

7521170372.txt

Protect the internet as an open forum with a level playing field for all, without any monetary incentives or regulations of accessibility. Treat all information, all providers, and all consumers the same. Don't let telecommunications companies play favorites with the content on the internet and thus leaving the door open for a plethora of censorship and propaganda. Do what's right and don't let money influence your decision making.