Opening up the spectrum would allow for free competition. We all know that. But did you know that locking it down would allow for companies who support the Grammys to monopolize that band? Either we have a free and open economy to make way for the "invisible hand" of the economy or we all suffer. Such spake the mighty Reagan and such is law. I can verify this because they have an airport and a library named after him. God bless captain Lord Reagan. Earl of the plastic ducky, admiral of my sunken battleship.
