I do not agree with subjecting the internet and the people of the United States of America to two lanes to the internet a fast and so called slow lane you all are proposing. I believe the internet should be open to all. Businesses and the rich folks should not be able to be in the fast lane and the rest of us to whatever you all dictate it should be. Keep the internet open and be fair to us the people you serve! I know this will probably fall on deaf ears as the government seems inclined lately to do what ever it so wants and money talks and everyone else is told to go f off but if you want to keep any amount of respect from us the people of America-keep the internet neutral and respect net neutrality. America is prized well it used to be on its free speech and this if it happens is just another way you powerful people in your golden halls will try to give freebies to the powerful businesses after all "Corporations are people my friends.." but we are watching and listening so don't mess this up.
