

7521198304.txt

Net Neutrality is extremely important for keeping the internet a level playing field. There are over 100 different companies, including Google and Netflix, who are outright protesting the possibility of ending net neutrality and that should say something. No average person wants to end net neutrality. Please listen to the people about keeping the internet open and level by keeping net neutrality alive. Don't bend to the lobbyists.