This poo has got to stop. Monsanto's in the bloody white house, and now another large company with a poop-laden plan is in there too? What. The. Actual. Poop. No internet-run company should pay an ISP for a Better connectivity/faster connection to their consumers. What kind of p.o.s allows Comcast to be the be-all, say-all for net neutrality? You could at least place the head/ceo of a better ISP than that. Obama must really be enjoying that drop in polls. He gone be like the black bush, just better speaking skills.
