As far as I can tell my two potential internet providers have little interest in running an efficient network. They only want to maximize their profits and provide unremarkable service. Do not let them have a 2 tier system. They will abuse it for their profit. I will not benefit. The USA will not benefit. All data should flow at the same rate. Some data should not be stuck in a slow lane because the business could not pay the higher fees.

Frankly, you should be regulating them to force them to live up to their promises.
