If you do away with net neutrality, you are furthering the wealth gap in this country automatically. If my son wants to start a company one day that provides an internet based service he will not be able to, without massive capital, if you allow the cable companies to have their way. They make enough money. This is the land of the American Dream. If you close net neutrality, you are severely limiting that Dream in this digital age. That is not an America I would be proud to raise my children in. Please, keep the internet open like it has been. You will kill the technological arm of the entrepreneurial spirit if you don't. Thank you for allowing me to voice my opinion on this matter. I feel this from my heart as I work in the technological sector. I could not fathom an internet any different from what we have today. Especially if it favors large companies over the individuals who allow those same companies to function. Thank you.
