

7521224202.txt

Net neutrality is absolutely necessary. Given the lack of competition between internet providers, and the recent addition of unregulated fees by Verizon, it's clear that the internet providers are not to be trusted with any latitude to decide on preferential treatment.