

7521224232.txt

I support keeping the existing "Net Neutrality" rules, prohibiting preferential content treatment by internet data carriers. Repealing them would be tantamount to allowing private censorship of the internet as well as hampering access to information for US citizens.