Please keep the internet free. Comcast and Time Warner need to innovate to keep up, not charge more for the same bad service they provide to cable users. The public is leaving cable behind due to high prices and the worst service of any industry in favor of cable alternatives that are more affordable, a la carte options and control over service. These companies chose to remain dinosaurs instead of innovating. Had the cable companies adapted earlier they would not be so desperate to recoup their losses in the most egregious way possible. People have left cable in droves because they are tired of not being listened to, tired of paying for what they don't watch and overcharged for what they do. I got rid of my tv 10 years ago and have never looked back. I have more time to do things I enjoy and pay for netflix to watch what I want. Really, if you made me pay even more to watch online I would just stop watching all together. I am not alone. It's just not that good anymore.
