

752123~1.TXT

I've been to other countries where internet is limited. It greatly stifles innovation, and yes, industry as well. If we want to keep this economy moving, we need to keep the information unbridled and absolutely private. Internet corporations absolutely should not be left as the gatekeepers to the internet.