

7521254258.txt

Expanding wireless services into aircraft for passengers will negatively impact passengers as most individuals have no etiquette when it comes to those devices use. It should not be the flight crews responsibility to resolve issues that will arise from disruptions in the cabin due to their use.