Net Neutrality (for lack of a better term) is not only essential to Internet functionality, fairness and free speech. It is equally essential to ensuring that the same type of monopolies that have been foolishly allowed to absorb and destroy America's economy will not also absorb and destroy the core structure of America's dialog, information, commerce and even entertainment.

You, the FCC, work and regulate on behalf of us, not for the enrichment of monopolistic corporations and their lobbyists and politicians. We are amongst the most informed of American citizens. And we are watching.
