I have never had more than 2 ISPs available anywhere I have ever lived in my 28 years of life. Their merger will only decrease the chance of healthy competition fostering economic growth...

Plus Time Warner has more than doubled their rates, halved their customer service satisfaction, and treated me with complete disrespect whenever I have called to ask about why my rates are being raised, exclaiming "you are actually receiving a discounted rate, the retail rate is much more than what we are offering you."

Thanks Time Warner for never earning my business, but rather being the only company in the business available where I live. Considering how internet access is becoming an integral part of our daily lives, this is not only unfair, it's oppressive.
