

7521270638.txt

The internet must remain free, and the cable companies cannot be trusted to ensure this. Reclassify these monsters as public utilities, and bring some sanity to a market overrun by greed and corruption. America must be better than this. In order to continue leading the world, we must also lead with technology, and these companies are about to strangle the innovation right out of us.