

7521289470.txt

The rich can already afford higher speed internet. I've worked with homeless people for years. They need to be able to search for jobs and study for tests online at libraries and at social work offices. Children need study aids at home. Please don't give another hurdle to the underprivileged.