From nearly the beginning I have enjoyed an open level field internet, and have seen amazing changes to our society. Powers to be will forever seek to expand controls in a paranoid fear of not making their fortunes greater. As part of the underclass I can only hope my government protects my right to access a mass communication system, the internet. Don't restrict my ability to access the nations highways, or plug into the electrical grid, or to reach my potential through reduced abilities through the internet. Please protect my rights.
