

7521308511.txt

The Internet is a gateway to unrestricted communications and idea sharing. If the private sector or governments can't deal with that, then it should be made internationally public.