

7521308554.txt

With the control of our media outlets (print, radio, and TV) being consolidated into an ever shrinking band of corporate moguls, the free internet is the last great bastion for Americans to have access to multiple news sources and opinions. If the free internet is lost, we will be little better off than countries like China.