

7521310103.txt

The taxpayers of the U.S. paid for the construction of the internet through their military tax dollars. As such, We The People own it; and We The People shouldn't become second-rate users of the system just because We The Greedy Telecomm Corporations think that their money makes them "special": it doesn't.