

7521321359.txt

Ahem. We have shitty, slow, expensive internet service in the US. Private companies operating without regulation are doing a piss poor job. We should not reward their failure by allowing them to charge differentially. Equality is the norm and it should stay that way. Obama campaigned on it, and there is no reason for him not to keep this promise.