

7521328725.txt

The Internet has thrived precisely because it's always been a level playing field that has fostered innovation and promoted free expression. The FCC's current proposal would change all of that. Please don't let the ISPs take over the Internet. The best way to preserve the open Internet and save Net Neutrality is to reclassify ISPs as common carriers.