

7521328740.txt

The internet is a communications tool; businesses should not have the power to arbitrarily determine how fast information is communicated so as to make themselves richer.