

7521332507.txt

The internet should remain open and neutral. If these companies win it will be a disaster of epic proportions. The internet is a major source of information sharing and that should remain relatively easy to access for every American.