

7521335702.txt

If this is not the place where I am supposed to post about the net neutrality law, I would like to apologize. If you could please move this comment to where it is suppose to go that would be great. First off I would like to say that the amount of conflict of interest currently happening in the FCC is simply appalling. After learning about net neutrality I decided to do a little research about the history of people who have overlooked the FCC. The amount people who were aligned with the people they were suppose to be watching is appalling. The FCC is suppose to work in the public's interest, not pay your time and make shady deals, so you can collect your money from these media giants when you are done. I am guessing none of you have a conscience. Now, I would like to inform you that taking net neutrality away is a horrible idea. You claim that ISP will not make Web based businesses pay more money for faster service with this law. Then what is the point of the law? All I can see is you trying to pull a fast one on the American public. I guarantee that if you pass this law taking away net neutrality, there will be hell to pay. This isn't some thing that you can do under the table, like the cable monopolies. You start missing with peoples Netflix, Amazon, Hulu, and other web based entertainment there will be hell to pay. Let me tell you a little story that you have yet to hear. It is about a guy name Joe-six pack. Joe-six pack is happy as long as he can go to work come home and grab his six pack. One you start to fuck with that six pack. Joe start paying attention to what is going on in the government. Do you really want Joe to know that you incredibly shady people who will sell your souls if that mean you could make a few more million. I do not think so. So quit the shit and do not fuck with the internet. Also why don't you start making the ISP start creating the fiber optic lines that you payed them billions for that they never gave. That is all I have to say for now. Please excuse any grammatical errors, I am writing this late at night. P.S. If the Internet does not start to improve in this country in the next 12 months I will personally start to take action and create my own ISP and expose the FCC and all the current big ISP for what they really are. So quit the shit.