I am a DirecTV satellite customer and I want to be sure that as AT&T combines or takes over DirecTV that my favorite channel which is RFDTV is not left out. I love this family oriented channel and even though I live in the Kansas City metro area I am very interested in the rural news and programming. I did own a farm in Texas that was first owned by my Great Grandmother. Farming, animals and country music is very much a part of my life and I would be upset to have this independent channel replaced by another news channel.
