

7521342461.txt

A two-tier internet would be yet another way to increase the destructive gap between the rich and poor; another corrosive element eating away at all that is (was) good in our country. The non-rich amongst us have had our heads kicked enough already. There is no need to further step on our necks, except to demonstrate again the contempt the government feels for the citizens.