I would like to express my support of RFD TV. I am a horse owner and love the equine programing RFD has. You never see anything about horses or country living or the farm related programs on the so called urban oriented programs the Comcast and Time-Warner, children are missing out on some needed education. Will the public learn anything about our heritage or where the food products come from? NO they won't. All their programing is about some kind of garbage that informs the public of nothing useful. RFD TV should by all means be shown in all it's glory, it is very, very informative. Thank you for letting me bend your ear on this subject.
