I am concerned that the agreement joining ATT and DirectTV will result in decreasing my ability to receive programs that are important to me. In particular, as a resident in rural America, I find programs pertaining to farming, agriculture and rural life style very important. I subscribe to DirectTV solely for access to the rural and hunting programs they offer. If the agreement joining ATT and DirectTV were to decrease rural and hunting programs, it would be a disservice to not only their rural customers but to all customers seeking information concerning those areas.
