

7521347195.txt

I support net neutrality for multiple reasons. First, the internet is a utility created by taxpayer money and thus should be regulated the same as other public utilities. Allowing ISPs to prioritize bandwidth would hamper free speech and competition by giving current market leaders an inherent advantage. This would stop innovative new companies from being able to grow due to an unfair disadvantage. It would also allow ISPs to block political speech they find objectionable. As a citizen and taxpayer I find this unacceptable and demand net neutrality be protected.