

7521356890.txt

Not only does it make it harder for people to afford/access certain websites, but it will make it harder for small businesses and amateur websites to continue running online. They will be expected to pay service providers in order to make their site accessible to the public. So this WORKS BOTH WAYS when it comes to hurting online freedom and communication