Net Neutrality is possibly one of the most important issues our country faces today, if we are to move forward as a first-world nation. Ending net neutrality would spell the end for innovation and progress in the tech industry for the United States. The internet is now a human right- it is necessary to acquire jobs, to work, to pay bills, to do virtually anything in day-to-day life anymore. Net neutrality safeguards these rights. Please, don't end net neutrality. It is Vital to America, and our future.
