

Dear Chairman Wheeler:

Over the last 30 years I have had the good fortune to be a part of many Cable Television and Internet, News, Entertainment, Religious, Public Interest and Culturally Relevant, New Network Launches, including CNBC, MSNBC, Court TV, Food Network, Colours TV and Realtor.Com.

I do not have to tell you the challenges in bringing a new product to market targeting a special audience under served yet anxious to learn grow and prosper with confidence that the images and information originate from a trusted, reliable source reflecting diverse opinions from around the United States that will inform, educate and inspire all ages.

BTNC has promised to fill that empty Public Interest Space across three screens grounded at one of the best American Universities serving as a training ground of opportunity for Telecommunications Nationally and Internationally.

Chairman Wheeler, Please grant BTNC a temporary waiver and allow commercial advertising as requested.

I am confident that this timely waiver will help secure the foundation to build a new network without harm or expense to any other enterprise.

In fact, granting the waiver will enhance good will in the marketplace creating a fully integrated interactive experience to grow the audience and help offset the start up expenses every channel faces.

Thank you for the consideration.

Sincerely,

Paul E. Waters Jr.
