

7521363353.txt

Getting rid of Net Neutrality would cost billions for the economy through the absence of new products! All because that person wouldn't be able to afford that extra fee in order to go as fast as Google or Facebook.