

7521364488.txt

This is outrageous.

We are allowing big business to police itself? That last time that happened, in the gilded age, rat poop was found in sausages. The Internet will become the new meatpacking industry, with corporations forgetting that we exist in order to increase profits.