

7521371318.txt

I believes the FCC needs to re-evaluate its policies on selective bandwidth and realize they only hold any power because of the thousands of people standing next to them. Fame and political positions are invisible bleachers that have made you believe you stand at the top when in fact we are staring each other in the eyes.

Andy