I feel the internet is beautiful thing that shouldn't be taken advantage of. Yes there are the bad things about the internet... bla bla bla... but when you look at the educational side of it, the internet is a pretty big thing. This big provider of education and media to the people should not be abused by greedy politicians. The only reason that there is debate on a topic like this that has such a large group protecting it is because companies like comcast are lobbying their way into the government's favor. We should fight this corruption and keep the internet an equal place
