I would like to voice my opinion about "Protecting and Promoting the Open Internet". I'm assuming you've probably already heard this opinion, but I would like it noted that there is still one more voice to be added to this discussion. (to the reader: You've probably had to read a lot of these to go through, I'll keep it brief)

I believe that Net-Neutrality is very important and vital to the way the internet functions. This is the way it has been working and I feel this is the way it should remain. Please preserve an open and fair internet. Thank you.
