We need the internet to remain neutral. We are a country built on freedom and we are currently being needlessly bullied by an oligopolist market. We as consumers and citizens have less and less choices and are being milked by needless and useless "service fees" by companies whose only mission is to increase their bottom line. We need net neutrality and a strong FCC to stand up to the ever-growing oligopoly that is plaguing our country and robbing our citizens. Step up, FCC.
