

Rural based programming has been a godsend in recent decades when local programming has become more and more corporate and the local cultural flavors have been homogenized: these broadcasts whether radio, cable etc are important to rural America and should be continued into the future.