

7521375834.txt

Comcast and TWC are already the two largest cable and internet providers in the business. Although they don't currently compete directly in any areas, combined they would operate in 43 of the top 50 US markets.

This is wrong, and unfair to the American people who have clearly stated a distrust for the large companies. The government should protect the people, corporations are not people.