

7521377032.txt

I am against the new net neutrality rules that allow large companies to pay for an "Internet fast lane"

This will severely hamper small businesses and start ups and innovation in the industry and provide very large companies with too much power which will ultimately hurt consumers.

I am for a fully open Internet which does not prioritize traffic based on how much a company is willing to pay an ISP.