It is my understanding that the commission is requesting comments as follows.

Should there be an outright ban on fast lanes?

Absolutely. Allowing fast lanes is the same as allowing slow lanes. All data should be treated equally and it should not be up to an ISP to determine what travels faster.

Should broadband access be classified as a Title II common carrier?

This is complicated as there are a myriad of regulations I am not in a position to fully understand. However if The FCC is unable to regulate ISPs without that step u would be supportive of it.

Should the new Open Internet provisions also cover wireless (mobile) broadband?

Yes. Broadband from any source or destination should be treated equally. I feel even more strongly about this as ISPs point to mobile broadband as competition when requesting mergers.

Thank you.
