

For the sake of our future and our children's future to access technology - please realize that the web movement needs to be accessible any openly free to every single market throughout the world.

I understand my comments may or may not be regarded as the democratic republic we live in today does not rely on the desires of "the people."

As a citizen of the United States and as a citizen of the world, I stand against net neutrality.