Dear FCC,

My name is Alexander C. Flanner and I live in Toledo, OH.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

As someone who travels extensively the internet is my means of communication with my family when abroad. Access to the internet is already in the hands of too few corporations. Trying to start as a competitor to this current ISP oligarchy is impossible. Things like the Comcast/TWC merger will only make the situation worse. If Comcast really cared about the customers then why do we have the highest cost/lowest bandwidth of almost any nation in the world? Why is Comcast ranked the absolute lowest in customer satisfaction? It's simple really. Because they don't give a shit about anyone but their shareholders and the regular Joe Citizen has no where else to go. Comcast says this will be better for the customer but if you look at their track record for customer satisfaction you'll see it's all bullshit. I think Wheeler will play this the exact way the ISP oligarchs will push him to play it. He's really just a spineless puppet for the people holding the internet ransom. I sincerely doubt he'd have the balls to stand up to them and classify ISP's as Title II Common Carriers. I bet he gets ass fucked by the Comcast board members on the weekends. He'll do exactly what they want him to do because he loves choking on their cum. If he could simultaneously get the taste of dick out of his mouth AND pull his head out of his ass for 5 minutes he'd see that the only way to true internet freedom is Title II. But he just loves oligarchical dick so much I doubt that will ever happen.

Another pleading effort for freedoms being slowly taken away,

Sincerely,

Alexander C. Flanner
