

7521388022.txt

The open internet is the greatest invention of mankind. The end of net neutrality will be one of the greatest defeats for innovation and economic competition. I'll completely disagree to anything opposing net neutrality.