No Comcast should not merge with Time Warner. It would create a monopoly in the cable industry and the internet industry. It's bad enough that in over three quarters of the country there is not more than one cable company or internet company that can truly offer High speed internet. Why is it that no cable company wants any city or state to get involved or provide the internet or cable. To it's residents. I think like At&t the cable companies should be broken up into smaller parts.
