Dear FCC,

My name is David Ramsey and I live in Philadelphia, PA.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because new, innovative services that can't afford expensive fees for better service will be less likely to succeed.

The internet is important to because, as a musician, new technologies and ideas can be learned and grow faster when all can be shared easily.

The youth must be able to afford to study new techniques and information.

Sincerely,

David Ramsey
