Dear FCC,

My name is Doug Van Etten and I live in Columbia, MO.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

I don't believe such a beautiful thing like an open internet, where anyone can access information, and support things, no matter how small, should be destroyed by the whims of large corporations who simply want to price gouge their customers to make a quick buck. Get out of their pocket!

Sincerely,

Doug Van Etten
