

7521482935.txt

The Internet should be regulated under Title II like any other common carrier. It is the common carrier for the 21st century, and should be regulated as such. Any sort of payments or charges to get data packets from or to you priority or faster network access than packets from/to other sources that are travelling through the same network should be expressly forbidden.